ENKEV TURNS NATURAL FIBRES INTO QUALITY PRODUCTS.

Since our foundation in 1932, we have become the leading processor of natural fibres. With our experience in the field of filling and covering materials for the mattress and furniture industry, we read market signals and translate them into new and innovative products of outstanding quality.

We use only the very best natural ingredients to make our products. Coir fibre from coconut shells, wool and hair from animals, cotton, sisal, jute, corn and pure latex. Nature constantly replenishes these raw materials, which are unsurpassed in resilience, durability and ventilation. So Enkev supplies a complete environmentally friendly alternative to synthetic materials.

Enkev is a company that has strong roots in the Netherlands. But, with branches in the UK, Poland, Russia and France, and joint ventures in China and Sri Lanka Enkev is a truly global company. We produce a wide range of high-quality needled and rubberised natural fibres and non-wovens in four countries and on two continents, with exports to more than 40 countries on all continents.

Enkev natural fibres are used in a multitude of finished products. From mattresses, furniture and car seats to biological filters. From insulating material, composites and packaging to truly customised technical applications. The scope of applications is increasing continuously thanks to the combination of Enkev's innovative thinking and to the expanding potential of pure, natural, materials that do not harm the environment. Enkev natural fibres are the best environmentally friendly alternative to synthetic materials.

So if you are looking for a natural solution to a specific problem, we are ready for the challenge.
